Winter Sports

The Prairie Provinces and British Columbia afford opportunities for all the usual winter sport activities. The Winnipeg bouspiel is the biggest annual curling tournament in the world. The Fox dog derby is still the feature event of its kind, drawing entries from many parts of Canada and the United States. Ski-running and ski-jumping at Banff Alberta and Revelstoke, British Columbia, attract large numbers of visitors, while those who desire less strenuous sport will find opportunities to play golf on scenic courses on the islands and mainland of southwestern British Columbia owing to a climate which defies the onslaught of winter.

Winter Sports in Canada

Skiing—Bob-Sledding—Hockey—Curling—Tobogganing—Dog Derbies
Outstanding Attractions

THE invigorating climate of a typical Canadian winter, now regarded as an advantage rather than a handicap, owing to the unusual variety of beautiful and appealing sports, is attracting increasing numbers of visitors to the Dominion. Across Canada there are many beautiful and attractive mountain, hills and valleys, which offer exceptional opportunities for enjoying a wide variety of outdoor winter sports. The principal activities throughout the country are snowmobiling, skating, tobogganing, curling, hockey, bob-sledding and dog derbies, all of which may be thoroughly enjoyed, under ideal conditions. With the exception of an occasional day during mid-winter, the temperature is not too cold for participating in outdoor sports. While motor travel is not general during the winter season, there are many long stretches of highway which are kept conditionally throughout the winter months. The traveller will always find train service a modern and luxurious mode of transportation. Hotels in many of the leading summer resort districts remain open the year round, providing good accommodation for those wishing to participate in local winter events.

Wide Range of Sports in Every Province

Each province possesses winter attractions more or less peculiar to its own particular surroundings. Practically all forms of winter sport are available in the Maritime Provinces, but a preference is shown for hockey and curling. In the province of Quebec the winter sport events centre in and around Montreal, Quebec City, Murray Bay and the Laurentian mountains. Lovers of winter sports will find vast territories in Ontario which are peculiar in location and in scenic beauty. Ottawa, the federal capital, is adjacent to some of the finest skiing country on the continent, while the best of ice-skiing may be enjoyed in Toronto bay and along the waterfront of Lake Ontario. In the Muskoka and Algonquin Park districts, hotels and cabins are open for the accommodation of winter visitors. In Manitoba the Winnipeg bouspiel and the winter carnival held at the international festival, while in the Prairie Provinces, the winter sports are annual events of international interest, while in the Northwest Territories, the winter sports are of local interest. In Alberta, one of the most important winter sports is the Fox dog derby, which is held annually in the town of Lethbridge, and is one of the most interesting and exciting events in the province.

The winter sports in the southwestern part of British Columbia offer golf, tennis and other summer sports, for the winter visitors. Government Bureau Information Service. Information concerning winter sports in Canada may be obtained from the National Development Council, Department of the Interior at Ottawa. Those who desire such information should state if possible, the particular district or districts in which they are interested, in order that the most complete data may be supplied.

Death of J. R. C. Macredie

He built the C.P.R. bridge at the Forks of the Rivers and built and lived in the house now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. D. Lush. The funeral was held on Wednesday afternoon. He leaves his widow and his daughter, Alice, to mourn his loss.

Severe Winter Weather

Severe north-west winds on Tuesday and over-night sent the temperatures scurrying away down below the zero mark and house-holders howling out and endeavoring to get the maximum heat from their furnaces and stoves into their residences and business places, in spite of which there were some who found liquids were frozen.

To Halt Unemployed Marches

Definite action to prevent the renewed concentration of unemployed in the province in a march upon the capital at Edmonton, is announced in a statement issued this week by Premier Brownlee. The statement points out that communistic literature has recently been circulated reiterating demands already made on governments, and the government expresses its opinion that the object is more than the furtherance of communistic propaganda but the immediate solution of the unemployed problem. In view of this the government has issued the following statement:

"The government has not refused to meet the delegates from the unemployed in Edmonton, and is equally ready to meet any delegation in Calgary or other points in the province, through ministers or properly accredited representatives of the government. This being the case, there is no need whatever for any concentration upon Edmonton, and that instructions have been issued by the government to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police to take all adequate measures to stop any such attempt."

"The government takes this method of notifying all interested organizations that no such concentration will be permitted and that should any unemployed from other parts of the province succeed in reaching Edmonton, under no circumstances will relief be given here nor will any provision be made by the government for the return to the place from which they have come."

Britain And France Have Asked U. S. For War Debt Extension

Washington.—Great Britain and France have asked the United States to relieve them of their war debts payments due next month and enter into a discussion of the whole debt question.

No sooner was this disclosed today at the state department than President Herbert Hoover—speaking back from the west—wired President-elect Franklin Roosevelt to confer with him at the White House on this and other governmental matters.

Publication of the notes confirmed reports that the British and French governments were seeking to reopen the question for discussion with a view to revision and in the meantime requesting an extension of the Hoover moratorium of June, 1931, to cover the December 15 payments.

Such questions can be passed upon finally only by congress.

The French and British move is regarded as only a part of a concerted effort by America's war debtors to obtain a complete overhauling of the terms of their obligations.

Greece last week failed to meet a payment due the United States and Hungary served notice she cannot meet hers in December.

Payments on principal can be postponed with 90 days' notice, under the 1923 debt funding agreement, but interest is supposed to be deposited.

From three other countries—Estonia, Latvia, and Poland—the American government previously had received word they cannot make the payments on principal due December 15.

Keen interest prevailed in governmental circles here in the meeting of parliament gave out the texts of the British and French notes.

These and voluminous data on the subject last week had been collected post haste to President Hoover. The tone of both notes was the same. Prompt action was urged asked by both Great Britain and France. They cited concessions they made at Lausanne in agreeing to a reduction of German reparations to about 11 per cent. of their agreed value and emphasized this as the chief argument for a re-examination of war debt settlements.

The British communication was a note for Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British ambassador, to Henry L. Stimson, American Secretary of State. The French document was a memorandum presented to Mr. Stimson by Ambassador Claudet and bearing no signature.

The Lindsay note recounted the circumstances under which the one-year moratorium was granted June 30, 1931, in the effort to "relieve pressure of the difficulties resulting from the fall in prices and lack of confidence in economic and political stability," and said that as this purpose had not been accomplished "thoughtful men throughout the world are convinced that if the depression is to be overcome further remedial measures must be sought."

The note described the British government as believing "the regime of intergovernmental financial obligations as now existing must be reviewed" and as "profoundly impressed with the importance of acting quickly."

London's 142 hospitals had a total income of $19,055,000 last year.

Canada's Wheat Crop Is Now Estimated At 431,200,000 Bushels

Ottawa, Ont.—Canada's total wheat crop is now estimated at 35,800,000 bushels less than it was in September, by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. In a report released Thursday afternoon, November 10, the total wheat crop for the entire Dominion was placed at 431,200,000 bushels compared with September estimate of 467,000,000. Most of the decrease is in the prairie provinces where Thursday's estimate was 411,000,000, and in the September estimate 446,000,000.

Not only are the estimates for wheat down but for other grains as well. In the prairie provinces an estimate for oats is now placed at

Banker Folds Bandit

Vancouver Hold-Up Is Frustrated By Action Of Bank Manager

Vancouver, B.C.—Less than two hours after a lone gunman attempted to hold up the British Columbia and Oak Street branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, police arrested a suspect who is being held for questioning. The man was arrested at his home by officers, who stated that on searching his room they found a revolver from which a bullet had been fired recently.

Quick thinking and prompt action by E. Devereaux, manager of the branch, foiled the holdup attempt and the man who tried to rob the bank was no easy mark for "stick ups." Shortly before noon a man entered the bank carrying a satchel. Going to Devereaux's desk he pointed a gun at the manager. Devereaux immediately dropped behind the counter and reached for his own gun. The bandit fired one shot and fled in a car, which was recovered by police 20 minutes later and discovered to have been stolen from H. Wright.

On July 28 last two men entered the bank and attempted to hold up Devereaux. The manager rushed to his office and fired several shots through the window to attract attention, frightening the bandits, who fled in a waiting car.

Debate On Grain Routing

Want Prairie Grain Shipped Through Maritime Ports

Ottawa, Ont.—East clashed with west in the House of Commons over routing of prairie grain through Maritime ports.

"We have the facilities. Use our ports," cried the Maritimers. "What reaches world markets through the cheapest channels," returned western members and its routing was a business proposition.

For three and a half hours the House discussed the six-cent wheat preference secured in the Anglo-Canadian trade treaty and its effect on the routing of prairie grain. Tempers became frayed in the evening. Premier J. R. Bennett protesting against "constant restriction" and "useless arguments" when parliament cost the taxpayers $10,000 a day.

Still For Prohibition

Andrew Volstead Has Not Changed His Viewpoint

St. Paul, Minn.—Andrew J. Volstead said he was still convinced prohibition is the thing for the United States.

Asked to comment on gains made by the wets in the election, he replied: "I have seen too many elections to have national sentiment mean anything to me. I am still for prohibition." He refused to amplify.

Volstead, co-author of the dry act, pertaining his name, is legal adviser to the district prohibition administrator here.

Will Not Visit London

Albany, N.Y.—President-elect Roosevelt denied reports published in British newspapers that he would visit London before taking office and that he was inclined toward favorable war-debt terms with Great Britain.

Wife Of Stalin Is Dead

Most Powerful Figure In Soviet Russia Is Bereaved

Moscow, Russia.—Nadya Allilueva, wife of Joseph Stalin, most powerful figure in all Soviet Russia, but herself a striking woman who lived plainly, is dead.

The Tass agency, official Soviet news organization, announced her death but gave no details. She was 30 years old. Only a few months ago she had completed a three-year course at the All-Union Industrial Academy which qualified her as an expert in the production of artificial silk and made her eligible to a high administrative-technical post in an important section of the Soviet textile industry.

In addition to Stalin, their two children—a boy of 12 and a girl of seven—survive her. There also is a stepchild, Stalin's son by a previous marriage, who is 23.

For Sound Money

Bennett Scores Proponents Of New Monetary System

Toronto, Ont.—The credit of Canada has been preserved to an extent that it stands out among the nations of the world. From Prime Minister R. B. Bennett came this declaration as he addressed delegates to the Ontario Conservative Association annual banquet.

To the proponents of a new monetary system for the use of pressing to turn out more dollar bills. Premier Bennett issued a rebuke, "If we do it we destroy this country, and its credit, and once you do that the appetite for more becomes insatiable. It became so insatiable in Germany that it took about 1,000,000 Marks to get a letter."

Free State Will Not Pay Land Annuities

Government Not Giving In To Irish Says De Valera

Dublin, Irish Free State.—Eamon de Valera, president of the council of the Irish Free State, told members of the Fianna Fail party of which he is a member, that "no long as this government is concerned the land annuities will never be paid."

"The new duties against Irish produce we had expected. We knew that the United Kingdom would attempt to bully and coerce us and if we give in she will always do so," he said.

Mass Flight Of 'Planes'

Rome, Italy.—General Luigi Balbo's long planned mass flight of 20 military aeroplanes from Rome to Chicago and return for the 1933 Chicago Exposition, was officially announced today by the Italian Government. The flight will start in June and will take probably two months by easy steps. The northern route—London, Iceland, Newfoundland, New York will probably be chosen.

BRITISH MARQUESS MAY CONQUER EVEREST BY AIR

With the chief object of promoting British prestige—particularly in India—the Marquis of Douglas and Clyde, British aviation enthusiast and Member of Parliament, with a few chosen companions, will take off from Northern Bengal sometime within the next few months, in an attempt to fly over the summit of Mount Everest, giant of the Himalayas. Clyde is being supported in his perilous venture by the British Air Ministry and India Office; and the Maharajah of Nepal, in whose territory the mountain is situated, has given permission for the flight. Two planes will make the attempt. One will photograph the other, and when, it crosses the summit of Everest, this will be to provide authentic proof that the feat has actually been accomplished.

HUNGER LEADER

Walter Hamilton, the militant orator of the London "hunger march" which recently resulted in serious rioting in the British Capital. Hamilton has been arrested, charged with "inciting to mutiny" and he will probably receive a stiff sentence.

Labor Statistics

471,668 Canadians Were Unemployed On June 1st.

Ottawa, Ont.—On June 1, 1931, the date of the Dominion-wide census, Canada's unemployed total stood at 471,668, according to a return tabled by Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, in the House of Commons. The wage-earners numbered 2,564,575, of whom $1.39 per cent. were at work.

The number of "unemployed in the ordinary meaning of the term" was 392,809, or 15.32 of all wage-earners, since these persons recorded themselves to have "no job." Others were laid off temporarily, some were out of work through sickness, accidents and lock-outs.

Of the wage-earners, 2,017,696 were male, and 547,273 females. Of the former, 422,994 were not at work, and of the latter, 48,674.

Police Make Second Raid

Seize Literature Of Alleged Communists In Calgary

Calgary, Alberta.—Extending their active operations against alleged communist organizations in search of the root of trouble among single unemployed, city and Royal Canadian Mounted Police swooped down on a downtown office building and seized literature and documents.

Shortly before the raid Wilson Pedersen, 21 years old, was arrested at Victoria Park, site of the city's community kitchen where single jobs are being fed, on a charge of disorderly conduct.

The raid was the second to be carried out within 36 hours and Pedersen's arrest was the eighth to be effected as a result of the clash between police and jobs at Victoria Park and consequent investigations.

Death Toll In Cuban Storm Now Mounts To One Thousand

Camaguey, Cuba.—More than 1,000 dazed and suffering refugees from hurricane-stricken Santa Cruz Del Sur were brought to Camaguey in crowded box-car trains.

Ambulances sped through the streets, taking them to improvised hospitals. They were not ambulances enough, and taxicabs, private automobiles and buses were pressed into service. The refugees were weary, hungry and burned by the sun. Many of them were frantic with worry. With pitiable anxiety they inquired about missing relatives and friends.

Back in Santa Cruz grave diggers waited to dispose of at least 1,000 bodies, victims of the destroying wind, which swept the little city built on a point jutting into the sea, and of the 20-foot wall of water which had wind piled up and rushed inland.

Meanwhile, medical supplies and clothing were brought here by train, aeroplane and steamer.

All business activities in Camaguey were few over Santa Cruz Friday night after a "plane trip to Santa Cruz said that not a single house was standing. He was sure the death toll would amount to 1,000, and he placed the total injured at 700.

"I have never seen such a tragedy in all my life," the secretary said. "Damages are incalculable, since the entire city—which had 3,500 inhabitants—was wiped out. I lifted boards and planks and found corpses of children underneath. It was horrible."

Official advisers before the hurricane had been warning, according to Lieut. Carrillo, military superior of Santa Cruz, who did his utmost to clear the place of people before the wall of water struck it.

Wednesday night, the lieutenant said, a fisherman came to him and declared: "Lieutenant, you may shoot me if I lie, but look at that sea. When the wind changes it is going to sweep in and flood Santa Cruz."

Carrillo immediately began clearing out residents of the city, threatening some of the lagards with his pistol. He probably saved the lives of several hundred before the storm struck. After the inundation he did his utmost to assist in the rescue work until finally he collapsed. The next thing he remembers he was riding on a plank which grounded, and on hands and knees he crawled out of the water.

All business activities in Camaguey were few over Santa Cruz Friday morning said the city still was flooded and every house was reduced to planks, plaster and stones. About a mile and a half at sea he saw floating debris.

Militia Men Stationed At Federal Penitentiaries In West

Winnipeg, Man.—Steel-helmeted militia men, with full field equipment and machine guns, are stationed at federal penitentiaries in Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

Twenty-five men were in each detachment to leave Winnipeg fully equipped and supplied with a plentiful quantity of ammunition. The troops dispatched to Prince Albert carried a truck load of ammunition, while both detachments had machine guns.

There are nearly 600 convicts at Prince Albert, while those housed at Stony Mountain total several hundred, probably near the thousand mark.

Banana Crop Damaged

Jamaica Hurricane Causes Loss Of Three Million Dollars

Kingston, Jamaica.—July 50 per cent. of the banana cultivations on this island were wiped out by a terrific storm which struck West Jamaica.

The centre of the storm hit Point Hope on the western extremity of the island, and the wind registered 75 miles an hour. The damage was estimated at $3,000,000. There was no loss of life.

Senator Haydon Dead

Has Been In Ill Health For Over Two Years

Ottawa, Ont.—Senator Andrew Haydon, 65, died at his home here after a lengthy illness.

Senator Haydon was among the three members of the Upper House who were censured for the part he played in the Beaudry-Power case.

For many years Senator Haydon had been in ill health. His rugged constitution broke down shortly after the 1930 general elections when he was director of the national Liberal organization.

Table Supplementary Estimates In House

Total Of $1,584,957 Added For Present Fiscal Year

Ottawa, Ont.—Further supplementary estimates for the present fiscal year, totalling $1,584,957, were tabled in the House of Commons by Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance.

The largest item on the supplementary list is an appropriation of $975,000, a further amount required for unemployment relief under the administration of the Department of Pensions and National Health.

Position Of Britain On The Vital Question Of Disarmament

London, Eng.—"We are endeavoring to translate into practical form the overwhelming desire and passionate hope of the British people to make disarmament an accomplished fact."

To a world perplexed with the assertions of various powers concerning vital question of disarmament, whose efforts towards that end have thus far met with small success, Sir John Simon made the foregoing statement in a speech in a crowded House of Commons.

It was significant that the British government chose, through its foreign secretary, to announce its attitude to the disarmament problem on the eve of Armistice Day. "A far meeting of Germany's claims on the principle of equality" was favored by Sir John, who pleaded that "the European states should join in a solemn affirmation that they will not in any circumstances attempt to resolve any present or future differences by resort to force."

Recognition of the right to parity in arms would entail on Germany, along with others, the acceptance of this corresponding obligation of an equal right of peace. Sir John recognized the fact that the arms limitations imposed on Germany by the Treaty of Versailles were to be preliminary to a general limitation of arms. It was not the desire of other countries to inflict permanent inferiority upon Germany but the hesitancy to change the Versailles Treaty restrictions was from anxiety as to the developments that might arise from the resulting situation, with the possible disturbing of the tranquility of Europe.

These further principles were laid down on behalf of the government of Great Britain: 1. That the limitation of Germany's armaments by special provisions in the Treaty of Versailles should be superseded; Any limitation of Germany's armaments should be expressed in a document that would at the same time limit the armaments of other nations.

2. The duration of such a disarmament convention should be the same for Germany as for other countries.

3. The British Government was willing in co-operation with other members of the disarmament conference to see the principle of equality in the prohibited classes of armaments (chemical warfare, etc.) was embodied in the new document.

Agreement Reached At Ottawa Conference May Have Beneficial Effect On Hog Industry In Canada

Since the Ottawa Economic Conference events appear to be steadily moving forward towards making effective the agreements reached. Principal among the agreements are those affecting livestock and animal products.

The principle adopted by the United Kingdom for the control of her markets for meats is "limitation of imports." This system of limitation of imports is being applied to all the important classes of meats—beef, lamb and mutton, bacon and hams, and certain classes of by-products.

In Canada, more has been said about the agreement as it affects bacon. However, it would appear that the determination by Britain to limit the importations of all meats, is the really big fact to grasp. It is the fact that gives the assignment by the United Kingdom to Canada of 280,000,000 pounds of bacon a meaning and significance.

From the standpoint of the Canadian livestock industry it is important, then, that the agreement, as they apply to all classes of meats, should be known. It would appear that the United Kingdom adopted, at the Conference, the principle of allowing to each Dominion what it wanted to do with reference to the meat and meat products in which each Dominion was most interested. This, however, does not limit the Dominion in any particular meat to the Dominion to which the United Kingdom declared her policy. The agreements should be viewed as a whole in order to understand the policy adopted by the United Kingdom.

The agreements apply to certain classes of meats, but for some time Britain has had restriction of imports of other classes of meats. These restrictions are mostly based on protection of the health of British livestock. In practice the restrictions confine imports of live cattle and other meat animals to those from Ireland and Canada. Imports of fresh meats from Europe are embargoed, which practically limits this import trade to the Irish Free State. These restrictions, then, already limit imports of fresh meats and live animals. Other meats enter Britain as chilled, frozen, or cured. The policy declared by the United Kingdom at Ottawa will limit the importations of these latter classes of meats.

The policy declared by the United Kingdom with regard to livestock and animal products may be summarized thus:

Live Cattle—removal of restrictions on imports of Canadian commercial cattle and, in part, on the stock that may be used for breeding.

Chilled and Frozen Beef—regulation of imports from Great Britain on the basis of an agreement reached with Australia.

Fresh Mutton and Lamb—regulation of imports from foreign countries (and from Australia) on the basis of an agreement reached with Australia and New Zealand.

Bacon and Hams—declaration to Canada, to guarantee free entry for up to 2,500,000 cwt. per annum of Canadian bacon and hams of good quality (280,000,000 lbs.).

The adoption, by the United Kingdom, of what would appear to be the most momentous policy, was the result of a series of events and conditions. European importing countries and America had steadily been raising barriers of various kinds against the importation of animal products. Great Britain remained the only open market. Therefore, all those countries that had formerly been exporting a part, or the bulk of their products to Britain, and all the exporting countries which had not formerly sent product there in quantity, were forced to concentrate more and more of their surpluses on that market.

In addition, production particularly of bacon and mutton heavily increased. The collapse of grain prices which gave European bacon producers very cheap feed for hogs in 1930 and 1931 induced large increases in production, not only in the countries that had formerly been supplying the bulk of British imports, but also in the countries that lately had been forced to send their bacon to Britain. Furthermore, the new countries to enter the British bacon market, such as Poland, Estonia, Lithuania, Latvia and Holland, in order to develop the proper kind of hog and establish themselves on the British market adopted various schemes of bounties and subsidies.

Britain's declared policy gives an aspect to the future which deserves the closest study and consideration. Present prices for bacon and hogs are no low as to be extremely discouraging. If the future is to be judged only by present price conditions, there is no prospect; the hog industry in all countries will die. But it is these conditions which led the United Kingdom to determine on the policy which was declared at Ottawa. Apart altogether from that declared policy, present price conditions, viewed in their proper light, are certain indications of better prices in the future.

Under extreme conditions, such as at present, the industries have suited to certain countries always survive. Canada is one of the countries that has the natural conditions for the survival of the hog industry. The policy declared by the Government of the United Kingdom is intended to favor the survival of the hog industry of Canada.

New National Park Planned

Two Sites On Vancouver Island Are Being Considered

Establishment of a new national park in British Columbia is being considered by the Canadian and provincial governments, and F. M. Ward, chief engineer of the federal parks branch, has been on the coast recently laying the groundwork for such a project.

Garibaldi Mountain is favorably regarded as a site for the new park, although the parks branch is said to be eager to establish a sea level park to complete its trans-Canada park system. For the latter purpose a park site on the west coast of Vancouver Island is being considered. The only other national park on Vancouver Island is Strathcona, which, however, is mountainous and somewhat inaccessible.

Colonel W. W. Foster, member of the Mount Logan expedition, of several years ago and one of the best known mountaineers in Canada, has completed a report on the Garibaldi project and this has been sent to Ottawa.

United States Rigidly Enforcing Restriction

Immigration Figures For 1932 At Lowest On Record

Only 934 Canadians were admitted to the United States as immigrants in August, against 1,108 in August, 1931, the labor department's last monthly report shows. In the period 1925 to 1930 Canadian immigration to this country in August averaged 7,000.

Restrictions on the influx of people are being enforced even more severely than in 1931 when the number admitted was the smallest in a century. Only 2,719 from all countries passed the gates last August, as compared with 4,000 in August, 1931, and an August average of 24,000 for the years 1925 to 1930. Indications are that for 1932 aggregate immigration will not reach 25,000, which would be the lowest figure on record.

Last August 8,749 persons who had established domicile in the U.S. left to live permanently elsewhere. "The exodus of alien residents," says the report, "now exceeds the new arrivals by over three to one."

How Cancer Begins

Everyone Should Know the Symptoms and Receive Early Treatment

Cancer never begins as cancer. Dr. Joseph C. Bloodgood, cancer research worker of Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, told the Ottawa Medical Chirurgical Society.

"It begins as a single spot," he said, "and the normal cells of that spot are changed to abnormal cells, which are not cancer cells."

Chronic irritation, injury or pre-existing lumps such as warts or moles and unhealed wounds anywhere are the site in which cancer develops, the doctor continued.

He stressed it was important that everyone should know the symptoms, signs and little things that are not cancer but which may become cancer and the earliest stages of cancer are identical.

"On this fundamental advice rests the action of having an immediate examination after the first warning," he declared.

Dr. Bloodgood told his audience women suffering from early detected cancer of the breast run no more than a 25 per cent risk that attempts to cure them will fail, while those who defer examination through ignorance reduce their chances of cure to 10 per cent.

A semi-annual examination of mothers, he said, would permit detection of spots in the cervix which are not cancer but which may become cancer or are the earliest stages of cancer. Radium treatment could then be used to cure a large percentage of the cases.

Under present conditions, he declared, most mothers seeking examination for cancer of the cervix had the disease in such an advanced stage that there was no more than a 10 per cent chance of cure.

A Prosperous Town

Full-Time Job For Every Man In Corbin, B.C.

What is the most prosperous town in Canada?
According to Thomas Uphill, Labor member for Fernie, B.C., the nomination should go to Corbin, B.C. Every man in the town has a full-time job. Corbin is a coal mine town, and although the mine employs only 300, there are more than 100 automobile dealers. The town incidentally is the only place in British Columbia where not a dollar of unemployment relief money has so far been spent.

But just a few miles away, at Fernie, B.C., is one of the poorest towns, from the economic standpoint, according to Uphill. The city is unable to meet its one-third share of unemployment relief; already it is far in arrears.

Mr. Uphill created a sensation at the last session of the legislature by proposing that the government should raise money by selling titles. Wealthy men would be eager to pay a stated sum for a provincial knighthood, he said.

U.S. Farm Population

Many Return To The Land As a Result of Hard Times

Hard times have resulted in a trek "back to the land" in the United States, statistics issued by the Department of Agriculture reveal. Present farm population of the country is estimated at 32,000,000, an increase of about 2,000,000 in three years.

Farm population in the United States reached a peak in 1910. The department says, when it was 32,077,000. Thereafter it steadily declined for twenty years as country families moved into the towns to share the profits of the long industrial boom. United States citizens living on the land numbered 31,570,000 in 1930 and 30,069,000 at the start of 1932. The three-year depression has driven nearly two million people back to rural life, so that farm population now approaches its 1910 high point.

A distinctive Canadian formula for the extraction of radium from the pitchblende ore found at Great Bear Lake, Northwest Territories, has been developed by scientists of the Canadian Government Department of Mines, according to a statement just issued by Hon. Wesley A. Gordon, Minister of Mines. The new formula is the result of more than a year's intensive research work by chemists of the Department of Mines.

The Canadian process, according to Mr. Gordon, will permit as great, if not greater, percentage of recovery, involving a shorter time and less complicated operations than any of the known methods. Canada will, it is expected, now be able to supply not only her own radium needs for therapeutic, scientific and commercial purposes, but will be able to export surplus.

Partly on account of the high-grade character of the Canadian ore and partly because of the shorter time and simplified method of the new process, it is believed that the costs of reduction will be considerably less than under other methods of extraction. Hydrochloric acid is used as a solvent in the new method instead of the usual sulphuric acid and a large number of stages formerly considered necessary have been eliminated. Instead of about forty operations, as proposed to be used in other countries, radium salts have been produced in the laboratory of the Canadian Government Department of Mines with less than half that number of steps. The chief cost in radium reduction lies in cost of chemicals about three tons being required for the treatment of every ton of ore. The new process has been adapted to treat with almost equal success siliceous ore and the silver carbonate ore with which pitchblende is found associated in the Great Bear Lake field.

About 4,000 grams of radium-bearing concentrates have been extracted in the experimental work. The yield worked out at one gram of radium from ten tons of pitchblende from the Great Bear Lake ore. A radium refinery is to be established at Port Hope, Ontario, for the extraction of radium from the Great Bear Lake ore, and a silver plant, such as uranium, lead and silver.

Forester Explains Coloring Of Leaves

Contrary To Popular Belief Frost Is Not Cause

Jack Frost's only duty in white, John Keller of the Pennsylvania State Department of Forests said in explaining that time, not frost, gives leaves their autumnal color.

"The ripening of leaves is the cause of the change in color of the forest foliage and not the action of the frost," Keller in disputing a popular belief.

"Frost may hasten the processes of turning leaves brown. A heavy freezing in late September or early October robs rather than aids the leaves of their chances for brilliant coloration."

A long dry autumn with not too heavy frosts brings the finest succession in the mineral substances within the minute leaf cells produce the wonderful shades of red and yellow, according to Keller.

Leaves fall from trees because they are "worn out" and have been drained of all the pulp that was stored in the twig, the forester expert said.

The Sounding Creek Map Sheet

Sounding Creek is an intermittent stream rising about twenty miles north of Youngstown, Alberta, which flows in a southerly and easterly direction turns north again and empties into Sounding Lake. The Sound Creek is 31,570,000 in 1930 and 30,069,000 at the start of 1932. The three-year depression has driven nearly two million people back to rural life, so that farm population now approaches its 1910 high point.

Germany's Newest Idea

In Germany, where new forms of transportation are constantly appearing, a foot-propelled bus is being used for leisurely hikes along the highways and byways. Its four industrious peddlers can keep the car doing six and a half miles an hour. The first car of this kind was built by four unemployed mechanics, but cars of similar type are gaining vogue.

For World Peace

A Peaceful Atlantic All That Is Needed Says Premier Of France

Let Britain and America "give us a peaceful Atlantic" and we, single-handed, will guarantee the peace of the world," Premier Herriot told the Anglo-American Press Association in Paris, in a speech in which he compared international peace with marriage.

"Peace is like marriage between two countries," Herriot said. "Each gives formal promises to respect mutual rights."

"I have been foreign minister several times, but have been a mayor for many years," Herriot said. He has been mayor of Lyons for 27 years. "As a mayor, one asks two people whether they wish to live in peace and harmony together."

Herriot said he had been a lifelong pacifist, but a practical one. "I don't intend building a castle of illusions in the skies," he said. "I want a practical, mutual peace machine built on the solid ground of Europe."

"As a Frenchman, I have a proposition to make to you British and Americans. Give us a peaceful Atlantic, and we, single-handed, will guarantee the peace of the world."

Evidence Of Herring Find Near Churchill

Species Appear To Be Same As Caught On Norway Coast

Discovery of evidence that herring is being fished in Hudson Bay was told by John Ingerbrigsten, Norwegian fisherman, who arrived in the city after spending several months at Churchill, from whence he cruised against the west coast of the bay while on fishing and freighting trips.

Discovery of the herring was made by Ingerbrigsten at Serry Island, 160 miles north of Churchill. He had found some of the fish washed up on shore. They were approximately eight inches in length and appeared to be of the same species as are caught by fishermen on the coast of Norway.

He took a few samples picked up on the shore to Churchill. He was not equipped with the proper nets to catch any of the herring.

Ingerbrigsten said he had also found this summer a new kind of bait fish for herring. It was a small fish apparently plentiful in the bay waters. He thinks perhaps it is a species of caplin. It is the third kind of bait he has found in Hudson Bay, having discovered two kinds while out last summer.

Gas Lighting Still Used

London Has Fifty Thousand Street Lamps Lighted Every Night

You would think, perhaps, that gas illumination belongs to a disappearing epoch—didn't Robert Louis Stevenson write a poem about Leerie and Lamp-lighter? Yet the Gas and Waterworks Company, of London, still carries on, still lights every night nearly 50,000 street lamps. It has just signed a contract with the City of Westminster that rich municipality which is really one of London's boroughs, and which amongst its 55 miles of streets, contains such famous ones as Pall Mall, Piccadilly, Regent Street and Whitehall—for another fifteen years.

A great contract, if you like, affecting more than half the West End of London; and the Gas Lighting and Coke Company recently took a few half-page ads in the most expensive papers to announce the fact.

World Is "Coming Back"

Recovery Will Be Hastened If Everyone Does Their Bit

Nothing is now surer than that the world is "coming back." Besides the fact that old "coming back" was wanted through a dozen or more such crisis, there is in the air every sign of recuperating recovery. "The fig tree putteth forth her green figs, and the vines with tender grapes give a good smell." For, to the winter is past—the voice of the turtle is heard in the land. "The recovery will be hastened, in the meantime if those of us who have not yet perceived the coming of the dawn will close our mouths, take a hitch on our belt and do what our hands find to do with our might. Let us do no talking and more real work.—S. Davidson.

Cleaning Royal Clocks

Twenty-Four Men Now Busy At Buckingham Palace

Twenty-four men are busy at Buckingham Palace giving the king's clocks their autumn clean.

The work will occupy two months, for they will clean and adjust every one of the wonderful collection of more than 160 clocks at the palace.

Even then most of the clocks in the royal collection will remain to be done, for at Windsor Castle there are another 300 belonging to the king, as well as about 250 more at Sandringham and Balmoral and other royal residences.

The king's favorite timepiece is a small clock with a plain mahogany case and a simple plain dial, on the table for his study in Buckingham Palace. Where he does much of his official work. It has been in his possession for many years, and by it he regulates his many audiences and interviews.

The king is one of the most punctual men in the country, and is never late for an official function or a private engagement, so that all the palace clocks must be accurate. It is an expert's duty to wind and adjust them every day.

The most curious clock in the collection is the one made in France in the time of Louis XV, in the form of a negro's head, with one eye showing the hour and the other the minute.

While great care is taken at Buckingham Palace to keep every clock accurate, at Sandringham, the king's estate in Norfolk, every clock is half an hour fast.

The generally accepted explanation of this is that King Edward wished to make it easier for himself to be in time for engagements, but the real reason is that King Edward, impatient at the shortness of the autumn days when most of his shooting was done, forestalled summer time by ordering the clocks to be advanced. The custom has been maintained ever since.

Has Sense Of Humor

Gandhi Did Clever Reply Bored For Blustering American

It is difficult to associate Mr. Gandhi with a sense of humor, but an artist who painted him while he was in London told of a rather blustering American who burst in while the Mahatma was absorbed in meditation, reports the News of the World. "Say Mr. Gandhi," said the visitor, "what good would it do if your country was freed from the English? You would fall into the hands of the Germans or the Russians or the Russians no time." "Would that matter?" asked Gandhi, "if we were able to keep out of the hands of the Americans?"

Airport Of The Skies

Plan Huge Overhead Aerodrome In Southampton, One Of The Promoters

An overhead aerodrome in the shape of a gigantic wheel half a mile in diameter, at an estimated cost of £25,000,000, is a proposal of London promoters, who hope to have it introduced in parliament in the near future for permission to build it. The proposed airport of the skies is to be supported by 36 skycranes, in the heart of Central London, over the railway lines behind King's Cross and St. Pancras stations.

The scheme as outlined by W. Craven-Elles, Conservative, M.P. for Southampton, one of the promoters, is as follows:

There will be eight spokes in the wheel design of the overhead aerodrome so that aeroplanes can always land no matter what direction the wind. Each spoke and surrounding rim will be 200 feet wide—three times the width of London Bridge.

The 36 buildings which will form the legs of the aerodrome will be 120 feet high and will be used as warehouses, factories for light industries, flats and offices. One of them will be a hotel. The flats will house 600 families at a rental of 10 shillings a week.

License Suspended For Life

Punishment Imposed By English Magistrate On Drunken Driver

Captain Harry St. Clair Dyson, who had a fine career in the war, was convicted in England by the Southern bench of magistrates on a charge of driving a motor car when under the influence of drink, was fined $500 or two months' imprisonment, but the latter's license was suspended for the remainder of his life. It was his third conviction on similar charges since 1927.

After the war he was associated with Lord Byng in connection with the distribution of the United Service Fund, and then went to British West Africa, where he contracted malaria.

British Millers Grind Own Wheat

Since the commencement of the present crop year British mills have been using a high percentage of Canadian wheat—undoubtedly the largest percentage since 1928. The recent shipment of a high percentage of Canadian wheat in the mixtures used by British mills is a factor of importance, says a report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Manitoba Sells Barley

To British Brewers Representative Pleased With Samples From Swan River Valley

A representative of the Associated Brewers has been in Manitoba for some time, securing a shipment of about 60,000 bushels of Manitoba barley to try out for malting purposes.

He has secured shipments from all parts of the province and is taking three carloads from the following: W. Banks, Benito; C. H. Goodman, Benito; Wm. Gordon, Kentville.

Major Shaw expressed himself as very pleased with the Valley samples, and if he can possibly do so will arrange to pay a visit to Swan River before he returns to England.

Some of these shipments are being sacked and kept separate from the balance of the grain shipped, so that a detailed report can be given as to their suitability for malting purposes.

Sound Rule For Driving

If Driver "Watches Other Fellow's Safety Is Assured

One of the sound rules for safe driving is to "watch the other fellow." When we form the habit of doing just that we keep our eyes on the road ahead it's ever so much easier to keep our minds on the all-important job of driving safely. Whatever the other fellow develops a new interest in him, too. It fosters a badly needed highway courtesy. It is a constant reminder that the road is owned by all, and not by any one driver. It tells us that the other fellow has equal rights with our own, and that if we infringe on these rights we're out on our own peril.—Bradford Sun.

Learn English By Singing

English is being taught Germans of Bavaria through singing. The Bavarian Broadcasting Company is broadcasting simple folk songs in English, the teacher at the microphone singing slowly and asking listeners to repeat the song after him. Every word is then explained by rhyme or song, and is assisted by a sextette. The system of instruction was originated by a Bavarian schoolmaster, imported from China, who says it was successful there.

Football Star Although Deaf Gets Signs By Finger System

Football signals given in sign language is something new for the grid-iron.

But that is the way Bilbo Monaghan, his blonde, deaf and dumb right end of the Memphis Tigers, professional football team, learns what the next play is to be.

He lost his hearing when he was seven. He can talk, but his voice has the unnatural sound peculiar to deaf people. He hears Bilbo tell it, deafness is a great help.

"I don't waste my breath talking," he explains. "And I believe I can see more than most players. My eyes are my ears, also, so they are well developed."

And another thing, when opposing players get to whispering about plays, Monaghan can sometimes read their lips.

Bilbo attended the school for the deaf and dumb at Jackson, Miss., where he started in athletics. He then went to Gallied College, Washington, D.C., where he was a fourth-year man.

This is his first season as a professional athlete.

"Frosty" Peters, quarterback on the Tigers and former University of Illinois football star, is Bilbo's buddy. "Frosty" gives him the signals in sign language and takes a special interest to see that Monaghan understands what is to come next.

One Reason Whaling Trade Has Declined

Sale Of Articles Containing Spermaceti Has Fallen Off

One of the reasons for curtailment of whaling operations off the Pacific coast during the last two seasons is that women are showing preference for articles that do not contain spermaceti, once a treasured article of world trade.

This is the opinion of William Schupp, president of Consolidated Whaling Corporation, which operates the only fleet of whaling vessels out of British Columbia ports.

Spermaceti is the wax found in the head cavities and blubber of the sperm whale and this product was once used almost exclusively in the manufacture of women's face creams and other cosmetics. The substance is also used for making candles of standard photometric value. In the dressing of fabrics, in medicines and surgery, and especially in cerates, ointments and in cosmetic preparations.

Whatever the reason, the market for spermaceti and sperm oil is now very low. The north Pacific has the largest sperm whaling in the world, according to Mr. Schupp. From 50 to 60 per cent of the world's supply of spermaceti comes from the Queen Charlotte Islands straits.

Wants To Trade Stamps

Boy Patient In Victoria Hospital Writes To King George

Little Robert Guay, who is a cot patient in the Queen Alexandra Hospital, not far from Victoria, B.C., wants King George to swap stamps with him.

Bobby is starting a collection and he has some extra stamps he wants to exchange. He heard the other day that King George has one of the best collections in the world and decided to put him on his list. So he wrote the following letter:

"Dear King George V: I am sending you these stamps to see if you would like to swap some of yours for them."

"The Solutium is a nice place and it is facing the sea. I have a bad hip. I have been here quite a while. Junior is in the next bed to me. He has a bad back. We are getting better. I hope you are fine."

"I hope you will like the stamps. If you have them already you can trade them for some others."

"With good wishes, yours truly, "Robert Guay."

Bobby is quite confident that the King will reply. He thinks it quite natural that he should write to His Majesty.

Untouchables Live Lower Than Beasts

Caste Lines Have Been Maintained In India Thousands of Years

There are four sharply divided Hindu castes and each of these is split into hundreds of sects, equally sharply divided. For thousands of years, through countless generations, these caste lines have been maintained in all their rigidity.

First come the Harijans, or "earthly gods," whose priests have a monopoly in the Hindu temples.

Second are the Kshatriyas, or fighting men.

Third are the Vaishyas, or tillers of the soil. (Gandhi was born into this caste.)

Fourth are the Sudras, or servants.

Beneath all these come India's 60,000 "untouchables," lowest of the low. They are doomed, by Hindu law, to the chains of mental and spiritual slavery for life, and so are their children for all time to come.

For no "untouchable" or his children may ever rise above his lowly station. His only hope is in reincarnation, that he may be born into a higher caste when he next appears on earth. This he asks in his prayers.

Crushed and beaten by centuries of oppression and discrimination, many of these 60,000 outcasts live lower than the beasts of the field. Some of them live on carrion, or on rats and snakes. When they seek jobs they are permitted to hold only such low positions as scavengers, sewer cleaners, street sweepers.

During Four-Hour Storm in Germany 2,000 Officially Recorded

Within four hours 2,000 flashes of lightning were counted by an official autographic instrument during heavy thunderstorms in West Germany and the Dutch-French district.

She was lying on her back in the shady wood whether they had ridden out to lunch that day, staring at the bits of blue sky overhead which showed between the interlacing branches of the trees. The remnant of the party were grouped around her, reclining in various attitudes of "dolce far niente" nature, while she lay a little distance away, where horses were picketed in charge of groom, came the drowsy, rhythmic sound of the munching of corn, punctuated by an occasional stamp or impatient hoof.

"Yes, it's been good," agreed Anne. "I shall never settle down again properly as a dowager at Dower House!" And she laughed fully.

To her, it had been almost like a return to the days of her youth—"her four children"—as she called them—had insisted on her sharing all their active pursuits, and Anne, who in her girlhood and married life had been a first-horsewoman and a magnificent swimmer, had consented "con amore."

Blaise pulled himself lazily up a sitting posture and glanced toward the crimson glow of westerling where it struck athwart the trunks of the trees.

"You'll none of you live to go to England. Instead, you'll be d of pneumon'a and a few other c plants—if we don't get a move soon," he observed. "It's almost set, and after that it grows abo ably chilly in this eastern parad Jean's. Besides, I fancy it's goi blow great guns before long."

It was true. Already a little whisper of wind was shaking the tops of the trees, and before the party fairly mounted and away, the wind had changed to a shrill whistling, leading the big gale which drove a cold front behind the innocent seeming breeze which at first had barely rocked the topmost branches.

It was a longish ride back to Bensenville, and the sun had dipped below the horizon in a sullen splendour.

purple and red before the shoulder of the hill, upon the further side of which the castle stood, came insight. Now and again the moon peeped out between the racing, wind-driven clouds, clearly limning the black curve of the hill against a background of lowering sky.

selves to rescuing such valuables as could be easily removed.

There was the usual mystery as to how the fire had originated, and several circulated amongst the chattering throng which hurried hither and thither, momentarily augmented by the peasants who, at sight of the castle in flames, had come trooping up the hill from the village below.

The most likely story, and the one to which Blaise inclined to give most credence, was that the child of a woman who worked daily at the castle, escaping from its mother's care and launched on an independent voyage of discovery through the rooms, had knocked over a burning lamp. Then, terrified at the immediate consequences—the sudden flaring of some ancient tapestry, dry as tinder with the summer heat, near which the lamp had fallen—he had bolted away, out of the castle and so home, too scared to tell anyone of the accident.

It was a splendid but very terrible sight. The great grim walls of the castle stood four-square against the sky, charred and blackened but defiantly impervious to the flames that were licking covetously against the solid stone which fashioned them. Sentinel to the very end, they reared themselves unvanquished, guardians still though all that they had sheltered lay in ruins.

Jean, standing beside Blaise and watching the upward-tossing flames and the crimson banner of the lowering heavens, spoke suddenly:

"'And the sky as red as blood above it' Blaise, the last of Keturah Stanley's prophecies has come true!"

An hour later help was forthcoming from the distant town to which a messenger had been dispatched post-haste as soon as it was realized that the household staff, even with the assistance from the village, was hopelessly inadequate to cope with a fire of such magnitude. But it was already too late to accomplish very much in the way of salvage. All that remained possible was to quench that inferno of fire as soon as might be and so, perhaps, save some of the outbuildings.

Hour after hour through the night, human endeavour fought with the names—subduing them again and again only to find them kindling into fresh life at the gusty bidding of the wind, leaping redly from the lambent heart of the conflagration, which glowed and pulsed and heaved like some living monster intent upon destruction.

It was not until dawn was breaking, that, with the dying down of the wind, the flickering crimson light an hour later, when the fire had been faded finally from the sky; and a half at last extinguished, the village folk, gathered about the scene of the catastrophe, had dispersed to their

Don't grow old. The best recipe for keeping young is to keep your interest as keen and alert at fifty, sixty, and to the end of your life, as it is possible to keep it. Do not let life grow monotonous and narrow—there are world-wide interests for us all. Do not let your range of emotions grow less and less, until you can neither be interested in, nor sympathetic with, nor sensitive to, the joys and sorrows of others. Keenness, zeal, enthusiasm—these are the yeast of life.—Ex.

Banish Diphtheria

Everyone, particularly particularly parents, tries to protect lives of children. Sometimes drivers of motor cars appear to forget their responsibility in this respect, but we do, in general, seek to safeguard our children and give them a fair chance of life.

We rejoice that the rights of children are respected. We derive a great deal of satisfaction from the fact that our children are today more free from disease, and that they enjoy better health than did the children of previous generations.

Among other things, past generations feared the disease known as diphtheria. In the past, many parents have watched their children fight a losing battle against this disease. Other parents have seen their little ones live through the attack but remaining with bodies weakened and often crippled by serious permanent damage.

How thankful we should be that this dread disease which destroyed or scarred its victims need no longer be feared. What a victory it is for us to have found the means whereby this disease may be banished from our midst.

Diphtheria germs produce a toxin or poison. For some years we have had in diphtheria antitoxin, an effective means with which to counteract the toxin. The anti-toxin, has to be given early in the course of the disease on the first day—it is to be one hundred per cent effective.

Deaths from diphtheria continued to occur despite the fact that there is this curative agent, because, for one reason or another, there was a delay in giving the antitoxin. It is, of course, a wonderful thing to have a substance such as antitoxin. However, even though it may be used early and the patient cured, yet there is at least, a certain amount of suffering, loss of time from school or work, and expense on account of the illness.

How fortunate we are today, then, to have a safe and reliable means to prevent diphtheria. By injecting a harmless substance, diphtheria toxin, it is now possible to build up in the child thus injected a lasting resistance to diphtheria.

Just as antitoxin it is of little or no value if it is used too late, so is toxin of no value unless it is used in time to secure protection before there has been exposure to the disease.

The time to secure protection is now. Any child, one year of age or older, who is not protected against diphtheria should be given toxin without delay.

Walker—That where applicable for relief is made to the council by parties who are not naturalized citizens, the proper steps be taken to deport these people to their country of origin. Ayes, 6; nays, 1.

Rowles—Whereas the Commission of penalties not only works an undue hardship upon naturalized citizens, of land, who through drought, hail, or other causes, over which they have no control, are unable to pay their taxes in the current year;

And such uncontrollable misfortune may occur for three or four years in succession;

But also results in an accumulation of indebtedness under which the penalties may become as much more than the current levy, so that the possibility of making payment in full becomes hopeless;

And whereas the carrying of a large paper receipt of uncollected taxes is of no advantage to the Municipality, but rather a source of discontent and a heavy extra cost in administration;

And whereas the employment of a tax collector will ensure the collection of taxes, except in cases of exceptional circumstances;

That section 335 of the Rural Municipalities Act (covering the Imposition of Penalties) be rescinded, and all advantages given for prompt or pre-payment of taxes be restricted to discounts;

And that the arrears of taxes on the roll be consolidated and ratepayers be required to pay a proportion of the consolidated arrears together with the current levy within thirty days of date of assessment, failing which the Council shall collect, same by distraint upon the production of the roll in the case of occupied lands and by Tax Sale in the case of unoccupied lands.

And that this resolution be forwarded to the Association of Rural Municipalities for discussion at the next Municipal Convention.—Carried unanimously.

Rowles—That a committee of three be appointed to go very thoroughly into the question of administration costs, interest, exchange, postage and stationery, etc., with a view to effecting economies and correcting weaknesses and inefficiency.

And that they consider the advisability of combining the two offices of Sec. Treas. and Tax Collector, with the view of bringing the cost of the combined position under $2000, the official to find his own assistance in the office during the period he is engaged in the work of collection, and that this committee report to the March meeting. This resolution was still under discussion at 2 a.m., when the Council adjourned without disposing of it, and reported to the Nomination meeting as tabled, till the December meeting.

Sec. Treas. C. Evans Sargent
